UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN SUPERIOR (WI) NON-RESIDENT TUITION WAIVER

Founded in 1893, the University of Wisconsin-Superior offers first-rate academic programs as part of the University of Wisconsin System, one of the largest and strongest public university systems in the United States.

With an average class size of 17 students, UW-Superior offers opportunities to engage and interact with professors who excel at preparing students for success. UW-Superior is located on the shore of Lake Superior in the city of Superior, Wisconsin, which is part of a safe, dynamic, medium-sized metropolitan area.

More than 90% of international students who qualify for admission to UW-Superior's undergraduate programs also qualify for Non-Resident Tuition Waiver (NTW) scholarships. NTW scholarships are worth $5,600 to $7,500 per year for up to four years. Applicants are automatically considered for an NTW scholarship as part of the admission process. Please direct questions to international@uwsuper.edu.

MILLS COLLEGE (CA) INTERNATIONAL STUDENT SCHOLARSHIPS

Mills College has been setting the standard for quality in liberal arts education for more than 160 years. Historically a college for women only, Mills continues that proud tradition today on the undergraduate level. To provide enhanced professional opportunities for all students, Mills also offers renowned graduate programs open to both women and men.

Mills offers a variety of scholarships that recognize your academic record, scholastic achievement, demonstrated leadership ability, contributions to the community, or special interests and talents. All entering fall-term, full-time applicants who meet the academic or talent eligibility requirements will be considered for the scholarships listed below. There is no separate application form for these scholarships as it is the admission application that is reviewed for scholarship eligibility.

SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY (NY) PROVIDES NEW YORK CITY DRAMA EXPERIENCE

Syracuse University- New York City Drama Experience

The Tepper Semester - a unique residency program from Syracuse University's Department of Drama - takes full advantage of New York City's rich cultural community and offers undergraduate students in advanced levels of acting, musical theater, design, and stage management the opportunity to immerse themselves in a rigorous artistic training program. Students in the Tepper Semester work closely with an accomplished faculty of professional artists who nurture their creative, intellectual, and personal growth. The program also guides students in understanding the business of the industry, which is essential for a rewarding and successful career in the performing arts. As an immersion experience, the professional preparatory semester creates the base of an international arts network for emerging young artists. Students live and study in the heart of New York's theater district and attend studio classes on Theatre Row. The program also takes advantage of the vast cultural and educational resources the city has to offer.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY-PURDUE UNIVERSITY INDIANAPOLIS (IU) LAUNCHES INTERNATIONAL HOST PROGRAM

A brand new program at IUPUI called the International Host Program matches current IUPUI international students with IU and Purdue alumni.

International students gain a support system in the U.S., have an opportunity to increase English language skills and intercommunication skills, and learn about American culture.

“International students often find it difficult to meet Americans, and frequently leave the U.S. without having experienced American life and traditions,” said Sandi Lemons, associate director for student services in the Office of International Affairs. “By bringing them together with alumni, we hope that international students will gain new perspectives on American life, while at the same time sharing their own cultural background with members of the Indianapolis community.”
